

HOW TO GET INVOLVED

Mayor's Office of Boards and Commissions

Community service is a rewarding experience. If you are interested in an appointment by Mayor Annise D. Parker in an area where your expertise and commitment can make a difference, review the boards and commissions listing in this brochure. A brief description of each entity along with e-mail contact can be found on the City website www.houstontx.gov.

Directions for Website

Using your internet access, visit the website at www.houstontx.gov. Scroll over "Government" on the header and click on "Mayor." Then, on the left side of the page, under "Mayor's Office Links" click on "Divisions." Scroll down to "Boards and Commissions" and click on that link where you will be provided with further information.

Select a board or commission of interest. Send a letter of intent along with a Résumé that includes a home address via email to the e-mail address provided on website.

Requirements

1. Must be enthusiastic and passionate about the mission and efforts of the board.
2. Must commit to attend no less than 80% of board meetings.
3. Must be current on personal property taxes.
4. Should be resident of the city of Houston. Limited positions are available for non-residents.

CITY OF HOUSTON

Citizens voluntarily serve on boards, commissions, committees, councils, corporations, and authorities. These groups assist by fostering the economic, political, and social growth of the city of Houston. The partnership between the public and private sectors is vital in the decision making process necessary for municipal government to achieve these goals. As members of these assemblies, citizens participate in the process by acting as servants to the city by setting policy, settling disputes, aiding fellow citizens, and planning for the future.

The Boards and Commissions Division of the Mayor's Office seeks to involve residents of the city of Houston who are willing to volunteer their time, expertise, and personal resources. They must be dedicated to benefiting the community. More than 1,500 people are currently working to contribute to a better quality of life in our city. The City of Houston is grateful for their effort and applauds their hard work.
